As I prepared for my mock RCOM interview last week in preparation for this week's "real" interview with the regional committee on ministry, I was told to write down my top three foundational topics of the ten they gave me and tie all of my theology and ministry to them

For me - scripture, church (the congregation and its life) and communion make up my three. I think these are foundational for understanding grace, salvation, ministry, who we are and what we do as the people of God. Within them lies our understanding of who God and Jesus are, what stewardship means, why ordination is a part of church life, the importance of pastoral care and self-care and the roles of worship, communion and baptism.

If you had to pick three areas that described the world of church/faith/theology for you, what would they be? (Church, Jesus/God, Communion/Baptism, Salvation, Ordination, Scripture, Stewardship, Pastoral Care, DOC History/Polity, others??) How would you define Central Christian Church in a big picture way? How would you tell someone about us in a way that says we are unique among the other churches in town? How would you explain what we believe?

I'd love to hear your thoughts on this because it will help us all learn how to better share our faith and our church with our neighbors!
Pastor Lory
