As we look forward to Thanksgiving on Thursday, I figure this would be a good time to express thanks for all the ways y'all bless my life.

I'm thankful for: your faithful attention to matters of worship and study groups, your constant encouragement, your prayers, your gifts of pastoral care for neighbors and members in need, your willingness to help others in our communities through your volunteering and giving, your love for Jesus and the church.

I'm grateful for those who take care of the lawn, those who fix/repair/replace things at the church and parsonage, those who help lead in worship, those who offer pastoral care by checking on neighbors and members need, those who jump in and help clean or organize things at the church when needed, those who give faithfully, those who bring food to sick or struggling members, those who share prayer requests and those who pray for said requests each week.

There are so many more ways, but space is limited - so I'll stop there.

I encourage you during this week where we focus on blessings, to count your blessings AND to tell the people in your life who are blessings that they are!
